FOREWORD

When a person thinks about a high school, he thinks of a number of things. Primarily, we know, that high school is a place of learning. Our school offers English, Manual Arts, Sciences, Fine Arts, and Business; in fact, almost anything in which a student might be interested that prepares him for life in general.

We welcome the Freshmen as they find themselves in a new freedom from the grade schools and home regulations while the Seniors think very seriously of college, of a career, and of military service.

But we aren't too serious for we laugh and sing and play, too. Our cheering and screaming during the games, our laughter floating from the cafeteria during an after-game dance, the latest gossip echoing in the halls between classes, the shouts of the basketball boys from the gym after school, a typewriter pecking away in the "Needle" room, the drum ensemble practicing in the band room -- these things, too, are our school.

Atlantic High School is indeed one of laughter and learning. But now let's turn the pages and see who makes up our classes, our faculty, and our activities.

MR. A. H. SCHALER

superintendent's message

It is our hope that your high school days have assisted you in your preparation in life. In that you have gained resources that will endure as long as life endures. That you have learned that life is a quarry, out of which you will build character. That your character will be at your best when fashioned from godliness, justice, moderation, and all kinds of honest and worthy actions.

Phillip Brooks presented a worthy objective for living when he wrote:

"Be such a man and live such a life, that if every man were such as you, and every life a life like yours, this earth would be God's Paradise".

DAVE C. TRIPP, PRINCIPAL

message

As I review my first year at Atlantic High School, I look forward with anticipation to next year. This is due to the attitude of the student body. Your cooperation with the faculty, your desire to learn, your fine sportsmanship, and your fighting spirit have made this year a pleasant one. You seniors will find that these qualities which you have displayed here in high school are the ones which will make your future successful and pleasant. May the underclassmen continue to carry on the fine traditions established by the seniors in these areas.

DEDICATION

to

Miss Cleo Rayl

The Javelin Staff of 1954 dedicates this annual to our sponsor, Miss Rayl. For the past several years, she has given endless time and effort to make the yearbooks of the Atlantic High School successful.

No one realizes the work and responsibility that is necessary to create an annual. The staff comes at the first of the year knowing absolutely nothing about the production of the Javelin. Miss Rayl patiently showed us the procedure, as well as making the work interesting.

We'll all remember the 4th period of our senior year as something we looked forward to each day.

We wish to express our appreciation and thank you for your guidance, Miss Rayl, in the production of The 1954 Javelin.

Poor Darlings! You do look weary. Take a long deserved rest.

When you have recovered from the labors of your Senior year, please look back on the year with pleasant thoughts. I will always think of you as a staff of fine workers with a cooperative attitude, with many constructive and worthwhile ideas to make the annual better, with good judgment and proper perspective and with kindly regard for your school mates. Also I will think of each of you as an individual that it has been a delight to know. Best of all to each of you.
